

The Misadventure of Beverly Beaver

A story by Bill Shaul

with important contributions from many others*

Digital illustrations crafted by Melisa Carlson

Two baby beavers (called kits) were born in their lodge on our pond in the month of March. One was a boy named Bobby and the other was a girl named Beverly. Beverly was not afraid of anything. One day during a fierce storm when she was only one month old, she swam to the far end of the pond and suddenly realized that she was . . . lost !
